

The Gorilla's Bananas

By Ryan Atkins

Illustrated by Devin Gordan

The Gorilla is angry.

He has his arms crossed and says “humph”.

Someone stole his bananas!

He lives in the jungle and everyone is mean to him.

He is a nice gorilla, but everyone picks on him.

The snake picks on him the most.

He thinks the snake took his bananas.

The gorilla found the snake coiled around his bananas!

The gorilla shouted, "Hey! You took my bananas!"

The snake says, "SSSSS..... I'm sorry. I sprained my tail and can't get food."

The gorilla felt sorry for the snake.

He said, "We can share the bananas!"

They became friends.

